I

The program, in one page.

What it is, what it costs, what a patron receives.

One kilogram. Three doors.

Physical gold is the qualifier. Private capital access is the product. What follows is what a Founders patron will receive at launch, by tier.

WHAT YOU HOLD

What you hold.

A Founders patron holds LBMA-grade physical gold in allocated custody at Malca-Amit Singapore Freeport. The bars are in the patron's name, by serial number, insured under a Lloyd's of London syndicate.

The gold also serves as collateral for a credit line at a Singapore institutional bank. Leverage is tiered to commitment — 50% at Founders I, 65% at II, 75% at III. The metal never moves; the credit it unlocks deploys into Aurum Funds.

WHAT AURUM DOES WITH IT

What Aurum does with it.

Aurum Funds deploys the credit into two equal sleeves: pre-IPO growth equity (Series D+ AI, robotics, critical infrastructure) and US mid-market private credit (10–14% gross, with equity participation where structure allows). Reinvestment is the default path — fund-level returns compound across vintages.

WHAT YOU RECEIVE

What you receive.

Direct allocation in Aurum Fund deal flow. Curated pre-IPO equity and US private credit that Korean structures cannot reach directly. A kilogram of physical gold in your name, working as collateral while it appreciates. One Singapore subscription replacing the FSCMA, FETA, KoFIU, and NTS paperwork that compounds across every direct deal. Quarterly reporting and full portal access are standard.

II

One kilogram, two jobs.

How gold does two things at once. The Korean-specific gap.
Why this structure exists only here.

One kilogram. Two jobs.

A single kilogram, at rest in a Malca-Amit vault, simultaneously does two jobs — it protects the patron, and it funds the institutional deal pipeline through a tiered credit line (up to 50% / 65% / 75% LTV by tier, subject to bank discretion). No bank, no family office, no product in Asia combines the two. Aurum provides that form.

§ JOB TWO 생산

A credit line from a Singapore institutional bank, collateralized by the bar — up to 50% / 65% / 75% LTV by tier. Proceeds deploy into pre-IPO equity and US private credit. ~15% base IRR target, net of fees.

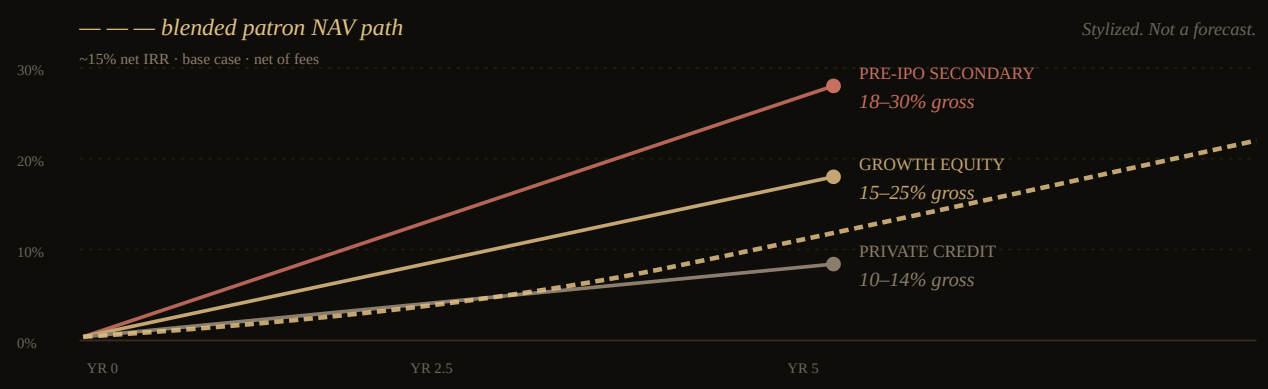
FIVE-YEAR PATH · ENGINE II · RETURN BANDS

gross IRR ranges · by deal type · illustrative



ENGINE I · GOLD FLOOR

Compounds at the rate of money supply.

The kilogram appreciates passively against won, dollar, yen — the asymmetry that makes Korean families hold it in the first place. Aurum doesn't accelerate it. It simply stops the metal from sitting idle.

ENGINE II · THE PIPELINE

Compounds at the rate of the deal book.

The credit drawn against the bar deploys into pre-IPO equity at 18–25% and private credit at 10–14% gross. The bar grows the floor; the deals grow the ceiling.

The metal sits still. The capital works. The NAV is the sum.

III

The Simplification.

단순화

One filing. One pool. One redemption. The paperwork a patron does once — not every time.

Four walls. One subscription.

A Korean patron's capital, deployed directly, hits four regulatory walls. Each wall generates filings that compound every deal, every year. One Singapore subscription replaces all of it.

1 FUND FILING · KOREAN LP-LEVEL OBLIGATIONS UNCHANGED

Korean LP-level obligations remain — annual NTS overseas account reporting, capital gains on distributions, designated FX bank relationship. Aurum provides standardised K-1-equivalent documentation, source-of-funds support, and annual position summaries to support patron's Korean tax counsel. What Aurum eliminates is the per-deal filing burden, not the patron's resident obligations. Patrons are advised to engage qualified Korean tax / FX counsel (Kim & Chang, Bae Kim & Lee, or equivalent) prior to subscription.

The Platform.

Where new deals reach you first.

The pipeline, gated.

In the quarters following first close, sourced positions rotate through the platform — patron-gated, tier-keyed, first-come-first-served within the founding group. A private channel, not a marketplace.

WHAT IT IS

The single channel through which Aurum shares sourced deal flow with the founding group.

WHY IT EXISTS

Deal access in Asia is a relationship problem, not a pricing problem. The platform is the relationship.

Two exceptional positions Aurum is sourcing to seed the fund.
The opening book.

Two deals. One opening book.

Aurum has sourced two positions of the kind that rarely clear an open market — one in frontier AI, one in defense autonomy. The fund forms around them. Participating patrons receive pro-rata allocation in both at first close.

§ DEAL № 01 · FRONTIER AI — LATE-STAGE SECONDARY

Anthropic
ANTHROPIC PBC

Defining the foundation-model category.

Builder of Claude. Enterprise revenue trajectory unmatched in software history — a genuinely rare secondary opportunity at current valuation.

Aurum routes through a direct-LP co-investor relationship. Primary market is closed; secondary allocations are scarce and highly curated.

§ DEAL № 02 · DEFENSE AUTONOMY — PRE-IPO

SHIELD
SHIELD AI INC

AI-piloted systems for allied defense.

Pre-IPO defense autonomy — US and NATO-aligned contracts in hand. Dual-use sector with structural tailwinds and a clear twenty-four-month path to liquidity.

Aurum routes through a late-stage crossover round. Strategic ticket available because of a strategic LP's partial reallocation — closes quickly.

A note, at first close.

To the founding group —

You have read the package. If you are still reading, it is because you already know how we move, and you have, at times, felt how far that work sits from you. This is the structure we built to close that distance.

Years of sourcing across the US, Asia, and Europe — direct-LP relationships, crossover rounds, secondaries that clear only through a returned call — taught us where Korean capital actually breaks. Not on opportunity. On the route to it: a regulatory perimeter that compounds with every deal, ninety-day pre-approvals on two-week windows. Patrons missed positions they should have been in, while gold held for a generation sat earning nothing.

That is when the gold became the answer. Not as a thesis on metal — though we hold one — but as the mechanism that solves the route. Allocated in your name in Singapore, insured, untouched. An institutional credit line that puts the bar to work without moving it. A MAS-regulated subscription that routes pro-rata into positions our network has already sourced. The metal you would hold anyway becomes the qualifier that opens rooms Seoul cannot reach directly.

Our ability to source continues to compound — Anthropic and Shield AI are what that pipeline produces today, a snapshot of a flow that does not slow down. The patrons who sit inside the founding group see it first.

We set the floor at a kilogram by design. The room is the asset. The patrons who belong in it tend to know each other already, and the seats — counted, by tier — will not be reopened.

The book opens this quarter. When you are ready, we are ready.
